

CUBIC GLOBAL TRAINING

MODULAR SYSTEM

The CUBIC Global Training programme is developed for ASSEMBLY manufacturers who have made an "Agreement on Cooperation" with CUBIC (original manufacturer) to use the modular system as per documentation.

It represents a joint commitment that can be relied upon by consultants and end users worldwide for switchboards based on the CUBIC Modular System.

LET'S BUILD THE FUTURE TOGETHER

CUBIC's training programme is specially designed for panel builders, design engineers and others associated with construction of switchboards and customized enclosures. The training course is unique, as nothing similar is found in the market, where theory is transformed to reality through well-tested cases.

The training is split into an online and a physical course, during which the participants meet instructors, who daily work with the subjects they teach. The instructors have theoretical knowledge, a good share of practical experience and oceans of cases from the real world.

By taking part in the CUBIC Global Training the participants achieve thorough technical knowledge of CUBIC's products and tools, and significant knowledge of international standards, types of tests and practical design of switchboards.

Besides, the participants get advice and inspiration to commercial considerations, as well as industrialized switchboard production.
